ADAM D. ROSELLI, CCIM, SIOR
Vice President/Managing Broker

Adam D. Roselli, CCIM joined Fuller Group as a Sales Associate in April of 2005. Since entering the industry, Adam has been among the top office specialists in Southwest Washington in both total transaction volume and total transaction value, and has been Fuller Group's top deal maker five years running. Adam also specializes in the acquisition and disposition of investment real estate and raw land.

Adam is a native of Vancouver, Washington. He attended St. Joseph's Elementary School, Jesuit High School and graduated from Western Washington University in June 2003 with Bachelor of Arts degrees in both business and Spanish. In October 2008, Adam earned his Certified Commercial Investment Member (CCIM) designation. In May 2010, Adam received his Master's degree in Business Administration from Washington State University and in 2016 he received his Managing Broker's license from the State of Washington.

Adam actively invests and participates in his community. He is involved with the Rotary Club of Vancouver where he currently serves as the Sergeant at Arms and was Rotarian of the Year in 2013-2014 and 2015-2016. Adam is on numerous boards including Board President at Share and a member on the Business Growth Committee at the CREDC. Adam was recognized in 2014 for being Accomplished and Under 40 by the Vancouver Business Journal and was a 2014 nominee for the General George C. Marshall Public Leadership Award. In 2016, Adam was chosen as Washington State University Vancouver's Notable Alumnus of the Year.

In his spare time, Adam can be found spending time with his wife Rachel and their two young children, Matthew and Kate. He also enjoys travel, golf, running or drinking a pint with friends in one of the area's many fine breweries.
